PRINTERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Compositors on Two Chicago Newspapers Quit Work—Sheets Are Limited to Four Pages.

Chicago, Mar. 1.—Compositors employed by the Chicago Examiner and the Chicago American struck and left these offices without printers.
James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical union, on being informed of this action, sent the following telegram from Washington:
"Strike unauthorized, illegal and without warrant. You are authorized to publish this dispatch."
The violation of the contract rights of the nearest newspapers was a violation of the contract under which all the other newspapers worked, and as the Examiner was able to print only four pages, the other newspapers limited themselves to the same size issue.

HIGH PLACE GIVEN NEGRO

William H. Lewis of Boston Is Ap-

eral by President Taft.

Washington, Mar. 1.—President Taft nominated William H. Lewis of Boston, a negro, to be an assistant attorney general of the department of justice. This is the first time that a negro has been named for such a prominent position in the department.
Lewis at present is an assistant United States attorney at Boston. He succeeded John G. Thompson, who resigned recently to resume his law practice at Danville, Ill.

DOCTORS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Prominent Physicians, Educators and Public Officials Meet in Big Conference at Chicago.

Chicago, March 1.—Scores of the country's most prominent physicians, educators and public officials met in the Congress hotel this morning at a conference called by the American Medical association to discuss vital problems of the medical profession.
The conference will last two days, and on Friday the association will hold its business session.

Dr. Arthur Dean Hovan, chairman, opened the first session this morning with introductory remarks and then introduced Dr. N. P. Colwell, who talked on "Recent Progress and Needs of Medical Education." A detailed discussion of this subject followed. In the afternoon the matter of state licenses was discussed by members of the medical boards of Missouri, New Jersey and Indiana. Tonight's address will be delivered by President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, President James of the University of Illinois and President McLean of the University of Iowa. Among the speakers on tomorrow's program are Governor Elberhart of Minnesota,
Judge Jesse Baldwin, Prof. Charles R.
Henderson of the University of Chicago and Frederick R. Reno.

BRYCE SCORED BY UNIONISTS

Reformers Criticize British Diplomat's
Part in Canada Treaty Agreement.

London, England, March 1.—The Unionist attack upon the part which Ambassador Bryce had in the United States-Canadian reciprocity negotiations was renewed in the house of commons. Sir Edward Grey, to whom the critics directed their inquiries, gave the British diplomat's course the same unequivocal support which it received recently from Premier Asquith.
The tariff reformers wished the foreign office to instruct the ambassadors of Great Britain at other capitals not to assist similar negotiations.
This the foreign secretary flatly refused to promise. In the reciprocity proceedings at Washington the action of Mr. Bryce had been, he believed, beneficial both to Canada and the United States.

COURT AWARDS $22,500,000

Policyholders Held to Be Entitled to Surplus Funds of Prudential Insurance Company.

Newark, N. J., Mar. 1.—Vice-Chancellor Howell filed in chancery court a decision in which he upheld the proposed division of a $20,000,000 surplus fund by the Prudential Insurance company among deferred dividend policyholders. The court declared also that the stockholders of the company were entitled to $2,500, 000 assigned them as stockholders and labeled "contingency surplus."

CODE FOR NEW MEXICO WINS

House Committee Decides for Ratification of the Constitution for the State.

Washington, Mar. 1.—The constitution of the new state of New Mexico has been unanimously approved by the house committee on territories.
The committee investigated all charges of fraud in connection with the constitutional convention and the ratification of the constitution, and finds that the organic act should be approved by congress.

Youth Kills His Stepmother.
Davenport, Ia., March 1.—Bud Bran-

PHONE LINEMEN ON STRIKE

Effort Is Being Made to Bring Out
Girl Operators and Tie Up Service.

Chicago, Mar. 1.—The fight between the Chicago Telephone company and the union linemen of the International Electric Workers promises to reach great proportions. An effort will be made by the union men to organize the telephone operators.
If the union officials are successful a complete tie-up of the company's service is inevitable. It was difficult to learn the number of men who walked out, the unions declaring that nearly 1,000 members of the mechanical departments were on strike and that not more than 300 linemen failed to report for work.
The strike is the result of the refusal of the telephone company to reinstate 23 linemen discharged for their allegiance to the union.

Political Situation Involving Relations With Vatican Reaches Most Critical Stage.

Madrid, Mar. 1.—The political situation is rapidly approaching a most critical stage, and it looks as if there would shortly be a complete rupture of the relations between the government and the vatican. The king will preside at a council of the ministers at which the question of the religious orders and other matters affecting the church will be taken up. Momentous results are expected.

POLICE HUNT FRENCH MAID

New York, Mar. 1.—It was learned that the rope of pearls among the jewels stolen aboard the Hamburg-American liner Amerika from Mrs.
Marshall Field, Jr., of Chicago, was insured in London for $70,000. Detectives are seeking a French maid who was a passenger on the vessel and is now believed to be in New York.

SUNDAY BALL WINS IN OHIO

House by Vote of 61 to 48 Passes
Bill Legalizing Games—Senate
Yet to Act.

Columbus, O., Mar. 1.—By a vote of 61 to 48 the house passed the Greeves Sunday baseball bill, under which games on Sunday will be legalized.
The measure repeals a section of the fundamental laws of the state adopted in the early history of Ohio. In anticipation of this bill the house recently passed another measure which puts it up to city councils to say whether Sunday games shall or shall not be played. Both bills have yet to be acted upon by the senate.

height of 14 stories, or 174 feet, and other drastic restrictions will be placed upon building operations if recommendations contained in the report of the New York city commission on congestion of population, are enacted into law.

TOBACCO DELIVERIES AT CLINTON TUESDAY

$10,000 Worth of the Weed Was Shipped From Clinton. Yesterday—Other News From Clinton.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Clinton, March 1.—About $10,000 worth of tobacco was delivered here yesterday. Cars were loaded on both sides and all the cars sent out were filled, and the freight house of the Chicago & North-Western road was filled, being one of the largest deliveries ever made here in one day.

Taken in Charge.
A couple of the men delivering tobacco from across the line in Illinois implied entirely too freely and were inclined to argue a question of authority with Marshall Reimer, who finally persuaded them he was "back of the roof" in Clinton and they meekly off home very humbly.
Marshall Reimer is making good as

On these nights each member is entitled to invite a guest. Consequently there were one hundred present. The bellini college quartet was secured for the occasion and rendered several selections very creditably. Misses John Helmer and Leonard Gosses played a very fine piano duet with marked artistic ability and were enthusiastically applauded. Dainty refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in social activity.

Mrs. E. C. Pike.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. E. C. Pike were held yesterday afternoon at the home of her son,

Mrs. V. C. Tuttle is on the sick list.
Mrs. J. L. Pangborne and A. V.
Peters are reported as feeling slowly but perceptibly this morning.
Word was received here this morning of the death, Sunday afternoon, of Mrs. Fanny Hollenbeck, who has for the past year been living with her two daughters, the Misses Emily and Mabel Hollenbeck, at St. Paul, Minn.

Interment will take place at Alexandria, South Dakota, today.
Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Collier returned to Madison today accompanied by his father, who will make his home with them for the present. The home here will be left as it is for the present.
Colonel Hartshorn is working at the Tiffany depot as an extra man.
He hopes to be able to work into a regular position in the near future.
Mr. and Mrs. C. M. French of Waterford, Michigan, the venerable parents of Mrs. A. E. McKimney, are expected here tonight to make their future home with Mr. and Mrs. Mc-

LUNG HEMORRHAGES

(I TOOK PE-RU-NA.)

MISS NINETTE PORTER.

Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me.
I saw a testimonial in a Peruna album of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it. I wrote to Dr.
Hartman for advice. He kindly gave me free advice."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky, substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

A Bad Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for curing me."

"For two years I doctored my cough, which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep."

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

Cadillac Smashes Records!

"Thirty"

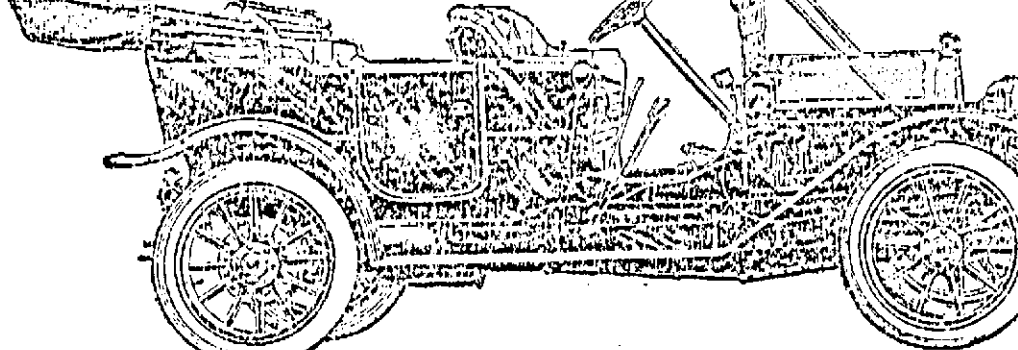

A Cadillac car recently established the following records:

Los Angeles to Bakersfield, 161 miles, 4 hours, 40 minutes, defeating the previous record by one hour and three minutes.

Los Angeles to Fresno, 266 miles, 7 hours, 26 minutes, defeating the previous record by 2 hours, 32 minutes.

Los Angeles to San Jose, 450 miles, 15 hours, 5 minutes, beating all previous records.

Los Angeles to San Francisco, 500 miles, 17 hours, 45 minutes, the inland route record.

These records were made without any adjustments of the engine or car. They demonstrate again what the CADILLAC construction means. The Cadillac has done what higher priced cars have failed to do. The Cadillac that made these records was not a specially built car, but a stock car, the same car that you will get. Every part perfect to one one-thousandth of an inch. Every part interchangeable.

BITTER PRIMARY FIGHT IS ENDED

Chicago Selects Candidates for the Mayoralty.

HOT ELECTION IS IN SIGHT

Democrats Name Carter H. Harrison as Standard Bearer and Charles E. Merriam is Chosen by the Republicans.

Chicago, Mar. 1.—Carter H. Harrison (Dem.) and Charles E. Merriam (Rep.) will be the candidates for mayor of Chicago at the election to be held April 4. Both Democratic and Republican organizations were smashed.

The bitterest primary election fight in the history of Chicago ended with the selection of the above standard bearers and simultaneously began what promises to be the most hotly contested fight for the actual mayoralty in the city's history.

The result on the Democratic side of the fence was contested until the last ditch, Mr. Harrison winning out by a comparatively small plurality over Edward P. Dunne, while Andrew J. Graham, the banker candidate, ran third in the race.

Merriam Has Walkover.

On the Republican side Mr. Merriam had virtually a walkover, his total vote being nearly a majority over all of the other Republican candidates.

Mr. Harrison has already been twice mayor of Chicago, and his nearest opponent, Mr. Dunne, was once the chief executive. Mr. Harrison is a son of the first Carter H. Harrison, who was assassinated while mayor of Chicago at the close of the world's fair in 1893.

Charles E. Merriam, college professor, reformer and investigator, headed the famous Merriam investigating commission, which turned the Republican administration and organization upside down during the past two years.

One Man is Slain.

The primary fight developed more bitter animus than has ever before been seen here.

One man was shot dead, several others were shot and stabbed, more or less seriously, and small riots were reported all over the city during the course of the voting.

Arthur Quinn, son of James A. Quinn, former city sealer, shot and killed a man believed to be Richard Clark, a union hod carrier.

The police say Clark was murdered while he was in the custody of an officer. Quinn is a deputy sheriff.

Patrick O'Hern, a bartender, was stabbed by an unidentified man in an election quarrel. His assailant escaped.

Fight Follows Dispute.

The shooting of Clark, according to the police, was the outcome of political strife. James A. Quinn and Robert E. Burke were in charge of the Harrison workers in the ward. Strife, it is said, was anticipated, and extra policemen and watchers were stationed throughout the ward.

A dispute arose between Quinn and Clark and a fight followed. The man believed to have drawn a revolver and shot Quinn in the leg and then fled.

George Pierce, an election inspector, was near and drew a revolver and sought to arrest Clark. Quinn, who was only slightly wounded, grasped the weapon from Pierce's hand and followed his assailant.

Policeman Lottis, who had witnessed the shooting, arrested Clark and was holding him when Quinn ran up and shot Clark.

Alleged Repeaters Arrested.

Through the efforts of County Judge John E. Owens, a bitter foe of political corruption, Chicago probably secured the most honest primary election in its history. Judge Owens recently caused to be arrested and held for trial several hundred alleged repeaters who were fraudulently registered.

One notary public has also been held for court on the charge of fraudulently placing his seal upon affidavits declared by the election commissioners to be false. He is charged with leading them by the hundreds.

A force of nearly 200 investigators working in conjunction with Judge Owens, ferreted out alleged efforts at repeating, and even the judges of election were sworn in as officers of the court by Judge Owens, and instructed that they were supreme at the polls.

ILLINOIS CITIES GROW FAST

Gillispie Shows Increase of Over 150 Per Cent.—Virden Almost Doubles.

Washington, Mar. 1.—The census bureau gave out the figures on Illinois cities as follows: Bunker Hill, 1,016; Carlinville, 3,616; Mount Olive, 2,501; Girard, 1,891; Virden, 4,000; Gillispie, 2,241. The largest growth was that of Gillispie, from 873, an increase of over 150 per cent. Virden almost doubled, from 2,208.

Fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

TO ALL READERS

The Gazette is anxious to bring each of its readers into closer touch with the newspaper and each other. It would like to have them feel free to send in news items. Notices of parties, personal mentions, happenings in your own community, accidents that may occur—in fact anything that you think would interest other readers. Matters of this nature can be telephoned to the editorial rooms. Call Rock county telephone 62, or Wisconsin phone 77 three rings. Meetings of lodges, church gatherings, and special meetings of clubs it will be necessary to have written out and left at or mailed to the Gazette to avoid mistakes which might otherwise occur. The columns of the paper are also open to communications on subjects of interest. Write your views of affairs on one side of the paper only. Be sure and sign your name. It will not be published if you do not wish it to, and either leave or mail to the office. Try this system and you will be surprised how much more interesting the reading of the evening paper becomes to you.

INDIAN TO THE FORE.

An heroic statue of an Indian is to be erected at an early day on some site overlooking New York harbor. The purpose is to typify and to dignify the first American. This end is to be sought, it is understood, not by representing the aborigine, as is too often the case, mounted and equipped as a warrior, but rather as a hunter; that is, as one who, in all the stances of his native character, is pursuing the only vocation made possible for him by circumstance and environment. Sentiment and art have contributed in no small degree toward the idealization of the Indian in stone, on canvas and in literature; the effect of the sculptor in this instance, however, will be to represent in composite rather than idealized form the Indian as he was when he held this land in undisputed possession, and to leave upon the public mind of this and future generations a truthful impress of an historic figure that has vanished from the scene.

This is intended to be, and doubtless will be, a worthy and a generous memorial. As the nation grows older it is learning to regard with more kindness and respect the race supplanted by its foundation and growth. Yet it is very certain that much of this kindness and respect has been induced, and, in fact, compelled, by the conduct of the Indian himself. It is only thirty-five years ago since Merritt, Crook, Terry and Forsythe were campaigning against savage tribes between the Plate and the Little Big Horn. The children of the warriors whom the United States army drove into reservations at that time are today following the plow, blacksmithing, carpentering, painting, teaching, bookkeeping and dressmaking, making their way, in short, in practically every civilized vocation.

All this speaks wonders for them, but more marvelous still is the advancement the Indian has made in self-respect. This is evidenced in Washington he has just made in Washington against the public exhibition of motion pictures which represent him only as a savage or, at best, as a barbarian. He wants to be known not for what he was but for what he is today—a man who is at least striving to be a useful and creditable American citizen. The heroic statue to be erected in his honor in New York harbor will be deserved, and will serve a good purpose; but it will not speak as eloquently for him as the simple protest which his sense of manhood has led him to file at the capital of the country with whose advancement and history he hopes to be more closely identified.

CHICAGO SITUATION.

For the first time in the history of Chicago newspaper life the four morning newspapers, the Tribune, Record-Herald, Examiner and Inter-Ocean, stood shoulder to shoulder in a protest against the arbitrary methods of the Chicago Typographical Union No. 16, and issued but four pages as a protest against unjust rulings by the president of the Chicago local. Not only did the four papers stand together, but in the four pages issued by each, not one line of advertising matter appeared, and each published a statement of the facts in the case. What is the most remarkable phase of the situation is the fact that the strike was only in the Chicago Examiner and Chicago American offices and was the result of a violation of the schedule agreement relative to pay for one per line, the two papers affected having a slightly narrower column than the other Chicago papers. President Lynch, head of the International Typographical Union, has issued a statement that the strike is unwarranted and illegal and matters will probably be adjusted today. However the fact remains the four Chicago morning papers stuck together today and make one of the most remarkable protests against injustice that has ever been exhibited in modern day newspaper experience.

CIVIC REGULATION.

Every Monday morning sees an extraordinary commitment of drunks and disorderlies appearing in the municipal court. Where they obtain the liquor on the one day in the week the places where it is disposed of are supposed to be closed, seems to remain a mystery. It has so happened that when cases are brought into court by the police for violation of the closing hours at night and on Sunday, they fall in conviction, are either non-suited or dropped entirely and each Monday morning sees the usual crisis of drunks who pay fines or go to jail for various terms. Possibly, if the county had a stone pile in the jail yard and the drunks who decide to spend a few days in the county were made to work while enjoying their enforced vacation, it would lessen the attendance at the court on Mondays and some of the drunk shops would not find it profitable to defy the law and remain open after hours Saturday night and on Sunday. It is a long road that does not have a turn and the pocket-books appear to be the only spot that really reaches some people's observance of the law.

CITY ORDINANCES.

There are on the books of the city a number of ordinances that are both useless and obsolete. Each year sees new ones added that only complicate the congested situation even more than ever. Ordinances should be so carefully drawn as to preclude any possibility of their conflicting with previous ones and the aldermen and city attorney should work in unity to straighten out the complex situation that now exists. Take for example the evening and sign ordinance. It is not enforced strictly owing to various reasons. The same can be said of many others. If the ordinances are any good let them be enforced; if not, take them off the books, wipe them out and pass some that will hold in the courts of law.

MERRIAM-HARRISON.

There was a primary election held in Chicago yesterday which demonstrated that a revolt against "gang" rule has begun. Despite the barrels of money used by the "machine" politicians Merriam, the school teacher alderman, carried off the republican honors for mayorship on the republican ticket, and four times elected former Mayor Carter Harrison, the democrat. It was a campaign in which money was used freely and the results are most satisfactory to the disciples of good government and give promise of better things politically for Chicago.

It appears that actresses have lost the monopoly upon the jewel theft stories. Here is a former American who reports that $150,000 in jewelry was stolen from her stateroom on board an ocean liner.

Milwaukee has secured the famous Stern bill that they hope will revolutionize politics in the Cream City. It is up to Governor McFadden now to sign it and have it become a law.

By this time tomorrow the Lorimer matter will be lost sight of, thank goodness, and congress will be working hard to complete its labors before the final adjournment comes.

Some of those departing congressmen and senators down in Washington are wondering how it will feel to be common citizens again with an "ex" in front of their names.

Do not let the council forget those street signs. The city needs them and if a proper bond is put up the present offer looks like a good one.

Canadian reciprocity is now out of the committee trying pan and ready for the fire of the entire senate. Let us hope it will be passed.

It is safe to predict the harem shift a short life and a merry one if the popular opinion counts for anything.

Uncle Walt
THE POET PHILOSOPHER
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT MASON.

One day I had to take a beard and fix the roof, which let in rain; I sawed my fingers off and roared until the neighbors had a pain. I tried, and tried, and tried to drive a nail, and every time the hammer missed; I tolled for hours without avail; I broke my neck and sprained my wrist; I clawed the shingles off the roof, and piled up smoking words in tiers, till friends and neighbors stood aloof, and held their fingers to their ears. And then a carpenter I sought; of sawing boards a trade he makes; he used around my lowly cot and had it fixed in forty shakes. He knew just how to drive a nail; he was a rattle, and from his jaw there came no language rank and snarl. And when his little tank was done, he came beside my humble home, and said, when he had got his mon: "I wish you'd read this little poem." I dashed it off the other night, when inspiration warmed my heart; I would that I might always write, for I'm a honey-bird on Art. I read two lines; then with a roar, I tied him in a sailor's knot, and buried him beneath the floor of my obscure but happy cot.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

TOLSTOY.

One Sunday morning a few weeks ago an old man lay dead in a little hut by the side of a railroad track. He was dressed in the rough blouse and the heavy boots of the Russian peasant—a costume he had worn for many years. He died early on the Sunday morning. And the peasants who loved him flocked to the place. Some knelt beside the hut and some knelt outside and prayed for the soul of the old man with the white beard who lay in his little bed.

True, the "holy synod" of the holy Greek church had forbidden that any prayers should be said for the repose of the soul of this old man, but—

You cannot stop the silent prayer of a soul by any earthly injunction.

Why the pitiful scene?

It was because the old man who lay there dead was a Christian democrat. He believed in a literal brotherhood of man. He literally lived the truths of the Sermon on the Mount. And the "holy church" protested against this teaching and living of Christianity.

This old man of eighty years was a great man of letters—one of the greatest of his century. He was titled and rich. And yet—

In peasant costume and living the peasant's daily life he taught the common people, who heard him gladly, the lesson of human equality; taught him and, what was better, lived it!

He was like the man who came to this earth 2,000 years ago to teach the same truth—and live it—and die for it.

Is it impious to liken them?

The one was born in another man's stable, buried in another man's tomb; his last pillow was thorns, his last companions were thieves, and—

Was not Leo Tolstoy his true disciple?

He who said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free," found in the soul of Tolstoy an altar upon which the truth forever flamed.

And the kneeling peasants, wondering in their simple minds at the strange greatness and the great goodness of the old man lying dead in the hut—they knew.

And the world, knows.

Read every day tonight. Just to get acquainted with the merchants.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonableness in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their attractive alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientifically trained.
Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfennig, 750 a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Under Drug Co., Milwaukee and River St. The drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

PLAGUE RAVAGES TOWN

TWO THOUSAND DEATHS DAILY AT PEI CHUANBRITZE.

Disease is raging in Many Places in Manchuria—Bread Riots Break Out in Stricken District.

St. Petersburg, Russia, March 1.—Pei Chuanbritze, about fifty miles north of Harbin, is being ravaged by the plague. Deaths there are reported to number 2,000 daily. The disease is raging at Kirin, Hulanchan, opposite Harbin, and Bodune, 100 miles southeast of the Manchurian capital.

Bread riots have occurred throughout the stricken district. The foreign consuls are preparing to leave. Troops have refused to march into the plague stricken places and martial law has been established.

The Chinese emperor has reprimanded the Manchurian authorities for not having dealt more energetically with the situation. The far eastern press is filled with apprehension of a revival of Boxerism.

CANCER TESTS HELD USELESS

British Expert Says Experiments With Animals Fail to Give Any Result Affecting Men.

New York, March 1.—Twenty-nine years' practice as surgeon in the London cancer hospital so thoroughly convinced Dr. Herbert Snow that "what passes with the public for cancer research is utter moonshine," that he stirred the members of the Anti-Vivisection society meeting with a condemnation of "the whole system of experimentation on the subhuman animals."

"It is," he said, "both unscientific and futile. No inference can be drawn directly from any phenomena in the subhuman animal to mankind."

The only sure path to scientific instruction was, he contended, by the reverent observation of the actual diseases in the human being, living or dead.

BIG LINER IS QUARANTINED

Caronia, From Naples, Is Held Up by United States Officials at New York.

New York, Mar. 1.—The steamer Caronia, which arrived in quarantine from Naples and other Mediterranean ports, was held up by the health officers on suspicion that an officer of the ship is ill with a most serious contagious disease. The fact that the vessel had touched at Italian ports where cases of cholera have recently developed prompted the action.

Epidemic of Diphtheria in New York.

New York, March 1.—The epidemic of diphtheria which closed the Johns Hopkins hospital, has spread to other large Baltimore institutions. The church home and infirmary was compelled to bar its doors to patients and visitors. There are now 75 cases in Johns Hopkins.

Illuminating Tunnel.
An ingenious way of illuminating a tunnel has been devised by a Parisian inventor. Reflectors throw the light from many electric lamps sixteen feet above the rails to the sides of the tunnel, where it is again reflected by polished tin, giving a soft and agreeable light. The trains automatically turn the current on and off when entering and leaving the tunnel.

Snuff Boxes With Histories.
In the days when a snuff box was considered a necessary attribute to the perquisites of a beau—or a belle—much ingenuity was brought to bear upon the manufacture of these dainty trifles. The results were often very novel. Those with a taste for the morbid could buy snuff boxes made from the wood of scaffolds, chairs that murderers had sat upon or parts of their houses.

New Sanitary Device.
Water used in sprinkling the streets of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has with it a certain amount of chloride mixture by which it is hoped to check the spread of infectious diseases. The experiment will be continued long enough to determine the value of the device, and if any material benefit is observable this disinfection of the streets will be continued.

Vast Extent of Oceans.
The Atlantic averages a depth of not quite three miles. Its water weighs 325,000,000,000,000,000 tons, and a tank to contain it would have each of its sides 430 miles long. The figures of the other oceans are in the same startling proportions. It would take all the sea water in the world two million years to flow over Niagara.

His Last Effort.
"Say," queried the party with the countermund habit, "what is the difference between an overcoat and a baby?"

"I pass," responded the old gentleman. "What's the answer?"

"The one you wear, the other you were," replied the countermund fiend.

And the coroner's jury voted to give the old gentleman his freedom on the grounds of "justifiable homicide."

Good Reasoning.
"I wish Cousin Jim and Miss Jones would get married," pondered eight-year-old Nodine. "Cause, why, mamma?"

"Oh, I don't like either of them, an' if they'd get married to each other an' go off on a long, long wedding journey, I wouldn't have to see any more of them, an' they'd ought to be happy. So it would be killing two birds with one stone."

British Innocence.
"Over in London," drawled the British tourist, "some of the hotels have boys every evening, 'pon me word they do."

"Well," laughed the clerk in the American hotel, "over here we have bell-boys."

"Oh, bell-boys." And is that a dawnee with bells?"

Get Easy Money.
Some of the clairvoyants in London earn up to $100 a day.

PLANS ERECTION OF NEW FLAT BUILDING

Thomas E. Mackin Has Purchased Monroe Property on South Franklin Street and Intends Building.

Thomas E. Mackin of this city has purchased the Monroe property, 65 South Franklin street, and his plans at present are to erect a two-story four-flat building there this spring. The lot lies just south of the intersection express depot, and is valuable for its location. The small cottage and barn which at present are on the property will be moved and work on the new structure will be started at an early date, according to present intentions. The lot has a frontage of 29 feet and a depth of 103 feet. The proposed new building will be a fine improvement to that section of the city.

BELL TELEPHONE CO. PAID LICENSE FEE

Earnings of Local Exchange Report and Tax Assessed Against Them Paid Today.

The Wisconsin Telephone company today reported to the city treasurer on the gross receipts of the local exchange during the past year and paid the license tax assessed against them. The amount received by the city was $77.50, a gain of more than fifty dollars over last year. The tax is levied on four per cent of eighty-five per cent of the gross earnings of the company. The gross receipts of 1910 were $19,938.81 and the amount on which the license tax was levied was $16,938.81. Last year the earnings reported for 1909 were $18,297.59 and the tax paid was $625.51.

EXAMINATION FOR HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Who Intend to Teach Will Be Conducted at Office of County Superintendent March 17 and 18.

On Friday and Saturday, March 17 and 18, Supt. O. D. Antle of the county schools will hold an examination for teachers' certificates at his office in the court house. All high school students who want to teach during the coming year may take any third grade examination they choose at this time, except the five subjects required by law in summer school—reading, grammar, arithmetic, geography, and school management. Any students they may receive, 25 or above, will be carried over until summer, to be used for a certificate then. There may be a six weeks summer school in this county this year, which will save the students who must go to summer school, according to law, the expense of going away for the purpose.

ARRESTED MAN WANTED BY MICHIGAN SHERIFF

Man Named Van Ess, Charged With Wife Desertion Taken by Sheriff of Jackson County.

Officer Patrick Fanning this morning arrested and turned over to Sheriff Lewis P. Wood of Jackson county, Michigan, a man named Van Ess, whom Sheriff Wood wanted in this county on a warrant charging wife desertion. The sheriff and his prisoner returned to Jackson this morning. Sheriff Wood came here last night looking for the man, located him, and this morning secured Officer Fanning to make the arrest. The prisoner offered no resistance and went back with the sheriff without demanding a regulation, although he could have delayed the proceedings for some few days had he done so.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT TO THREE SMALL BLAZES

Auto Damaged by Truck in Making Run to Chimney Fire on South Main Street Last Night.

Still Alarms Today.

Three fire alarms were responded to last night and this morning by the fire department. At a quarter to seven last evening the department was called out to a chimney blaze at 214 South Main street, which threatened to become serious. While the department was making the run, one of the wagons struck an auto belonging to Clarence Wood, which was standing in the street, and damaged it slightly. A smoking oil stove in the shoe shine stand on South Franklin street next to Sherer's drug store, filled the place with smoke about ten o'clock this morning and some of the smoke leaked out through crevices. Passersby seeing it sent in a still alarm. The fire in the stove was extinguished by chemicals from the auto.

At about half past eleven o'clock today another still alarm was sent in for a chimney fire at the home of George H. Palmer, 241 North High street. The blaze was put out with the chemicals.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY.

North Spring Valley, Feb. 27.—Frank McCullough was a broadhead visitor Saturday.

E. Stone Lichten had a telephone placed in his farm residence recently.

August Sholtz of Broadhead, was a caller here Saturday.

The funeral of Mrs. Moore was held at Broadhead Tuesday. She recently moved from her farm here where she resided for many years. Her daughter, Mrs. Menner has been caring for her during her illness. The friends and neighbors here extended their sympathy to the family.

The farm known as the Heath farm has been sold to a party from Orfordville for one hundred dollars per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clavin and son, Bennie, have leased their farm here for a term of years and will go to Canada to homestead and purchase land.

NOMINATION PAPERS FOR NICHOLS FILED

Candidate for Democratic Nomination as Mayor Has Secured Necessary Number of Signatures From Each Ward.

Nomination papers for John C. Nichols, candidate for the nomination as mayor of the city on the Democratic ticket, have been filed with City Clerk Roy M. Cummings, from all wards in the city, the last of them being filed this afternoon. The papers for James Elfield, who is seeking the Republican nomination for the mayoralty have been taken out in all the wards, and it is expected they will be returned in a few days.

John W. Richardson, the present city sealer of weights and measures is seeking the nomination for reelection as a Democrat at the regular spring election and has filed his nomination paper from the Second Ward. It is said he will have an opponent after the primaries, will probably be Fred Marsh, Republican, who is the only one who has signified their intention of running against Richardson. Thus far the only adverse contest has been between two Democrats in the Fourth Ward.

KANSAS MAN TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER

Al O. Truskett Will Be Arraigned At March Term of Circuit Court At Independence for Killing Oil Man.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Independence, Kan., March 1.—The March term of the circuit court about to convene here will be made notable by the trial of Al O. Truskett for the alleged murder of John S. Neely, a prominent capitalist whose home was in Lima, Ohio. Truskett shot and killed Neely in the Palace Hotel in the town of Caney, about twenty-five miles southwest of here, on the morning of January 7, last.

The slain man was president of the Lima Trust company in his home city and was also the head of several large oil companies in the Kansas-Oklahoma field, including the Wichita Pipe Line company. The shooting was the result of a litigation over an oil lease.

On the day before the tragedy Mr. Neely had arrived in Caney on his regular monthly inspection of oil and gas interests. The following morning Mr. Neely was sitting in the hotel of the rooming house, Truskett sitting opposite, watched him closely. When Neely got up and walked toward the rear of the hotel Truskett hurried around to the sample room. As Neely passed the door of this room Truskett fired at him twice. One bullet passed through Mr. Neely's heart, and the other through his left arm. When employees of the hotel reached the prostrate man he was dead. Truskett surrendered immediately and was hurried in an automobile to the county jail in this city.

The killing is believed to have been the result of a lawsuit that had long been pending between Truskett and the Wichita Pipe Line company, of which Neely was president. According to his friends Truskett was of the belief that the company was trying to rob him of his rights. The litigation was over a lease to a tract of oil land a few miles south of Caney. Robert E. Goodman, a minor Indian, who owned the tract, sold his interest several years ago to Hugh Benson, an oil man who later disposed of it to a local oil company. The company claimed the lease of the tract, alleging that it had come into possession of it by lease from parties said to be interested in the Wichita company. The company asserted that the lease to Truskett was not according to law as the Indian boy Goodman was not of age when he signed away his rights to the property. Truskett asserted that the Pipe Line company had used undue influence on the Indian boy, had kept him constantly under watch and had finally bought from him the lease the day on which he came of age.

Public sympathy in this section is largely on the side of Truskett, owing in a great measure to the popular prejudice against the Pipe Line company and its affiliated corporations because of the methods the have pursued in the past. Retatives and friends of the alleged slayer have raised a $20,000 fund and have employed eminent counsel to conduct his defense. The coming trial is expected to one of the most notable that has taken place in this section of Kansas.

JANESVILLE MAN TO WED CHICAGO YOUNG LADY TODAY

Joseph Galdo Takes Out License to Wed Miss Laura Field in Windy City.

According to a Chicago dispatch the impending marriage there of Joseph Galdo, aged 26, of Janesville, and Laura Field, aged 20, of Chicago, is indicated by issuance of a marriage license to them today in Chicago.

Matter Matrimonial.

The normal young man is generally desirous of meeting a girl of the right stamp, yet the Fugate advertisement week wears the air of novelty: "A collector of postage stamps, possesses 12,544 specimens, desires to contract a marriage with a young lady, also a collector, who has the blue Mauritius stamp of 1817. No other need apply."—Youth's Companion.

No Such Luck.

Parson's Daughter (bustling in on a domestic upsurge)—You shouldn't quarrel. Think of your neighbor, John Brown, who is separated from his wife. You should consider yourself lucky. Henpecked—Yes, miss; but I ain't John Brown.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Marriage License: A marriage license was issued today to Frank Letz and Miss Alma Radenz, both of the town of Fulton.

LOCAL TEAM MEETS EVANSVILLE FRIDAY

Janesville High School Play Go To Cut-off City To Play—Possibility of Place At Appleton Tournament.

Next Friday evening at Evansville the Janesville high school basketball team will meet the Evansville high school team in the last game of their regular season for this season. The Janesville boys are determined to win and will give Evansville her money's worth. Janesville will have her usual lineup. Mr. Bird of Deloit will referee.

Outside of her regular schedule Janesville will have to play one or two rival teams in order to gain entrance to the Appleton state tournament. As yet Janesville does not know whom she will have to play. The authorities at Appleton will match the teams qualified to enter and the winner of each mentioned contest will go to Appleton.

Last year, Janesville sent her team to Madison but they were unable to capture more than third place in the Inter-State Tournament held there. Then she attempted to enter them in the Appleton State Tournament but they were ousted by Elkhorn in a game at Deloit. As this year's team is stronger than last year's, Janesville's outlook is very good indeed.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. E. S. Williams.

Last evening at ten o'clock occurred the death of Mrs. E. S. Williams at the home of her brother on Jefferson avenue. Death came as the result of a slight stroke of paralysis last Saturday morning, from which she rapidly failed until the end last night.

Mrs. Williams was a life long resident of this city and was over sixty years of age. She had been a prominent worker in the Congregational church of this city of which she was a faithful member. Her character was a lovable one and her many friends in this city will regret to hear of her death.

Her husband died some ten months ago and since that time she had made her home at 203 Jefferson avenue. A brother, C. D. Stevens, lived with her. Two other brothers, P. S. Stevens of Greenwood, Wis., and John D. Stevens of Wausau, and one sister, Mrs. C. S. Kellogg of this city, survive her.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock from the home, Mr. David Denton officiating. The remains will be laid at rest in the chapel vault.

David Lindsay Earle.

Friends and relatives of the late David Lindsay Earle gathered at the home of his son, Jesse Earle, on Jefferson avenue, at two o'clock this afternoon to pay the last and final rites to the deceased. Rev. J. W. Laughlin officiated and the local order of Masons attended in a body. The five sons and one son-in-law, A. A. Brown, acted as pallbearers. The remains were laid at rest in the vault of Oak Hill chapel.

Thomas Wandell.

Funeral services for the late Thomas Wandell were held from the home of Mrs. John Kinney at nine o'clock this morning. Rev. David Denton of the Congregational church officiated and the remains were shipped to Milton Junction at half past ten, and were laid at rest in the Otter Creek cemetery.

Would You Build A House Without A Plan?

Is not the correct planning of the home a most important factor in the building of a house? The plan is the foundation of the structure. It is the plan that determines the location of the rooms, the arrangement of the furniture, the choice of the materials, and the style of the architecture. It is the plan that makes the difference between a haphazard construction and a well-planned home.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"THERE is something upon which I should like to have your opinion. I have got the disagreeable habit of telling lies—not lies to hurt anyone, but just little lies to make myself appear to better advantage. I cannot exactly express it, but you know what I mean, and now I almost believe these things, and cannot break myself of the habit."

So a frank young person confessed to me in a letter yesterday. Frank young person, will it be my comfort to you to know that you have much company, and much good company, in your fault?

For you certainly have. If I were estimating the proportion of my acquaintances—and I fancy they are about the same kind of people as your acquaintances—who have this habit to some extent at least, I should say five out of ten.

And yet the people who are conscious of the trick, well I guess they are real rare birds. Like the lady of the letter most of the people who tell these funny little lies come to believe them themselves.

"I have a standing offer of $2,000 a year," announces the newspaper man. You know he cannot possibly be getting over $1,000, and you wonder why he doesn't accept that offer. As a matter of fact that means that several years ago he had an offer of $2,000 in a distant city. He didn't accept it because he didn't want to go so far away, and he has no reason to think the position is still open, but he has made that statement so many times that he thoroughly believes it.

"Yes, mother knew Lady L.—very well when she was abroad," sounds delightful. What it really means is that mother was introduced to Lady L.—at a charity bazaar and knew her well enough to buy a hand-painted horror from her table.

"You know I'm in charge of the office now," the important young man assures you. Being "in charge of the office" sounds as if he had made some pretty rapid strides since his graduation from high school two years ago, doesn't it? As a matter of fact it means that two of his superiors being ill, and a third being out on the road he was in charge of two office boys and a stenographer for a week.

As you pass a beautiful dressmaking establishment whose prices have always said "Abandon hope all ye who enter here" to you, your companion casually indicates it and informs you. "That's where my sister buys her gowns." You are duly awed because you do not know that the boss of that establishment is merely the fact that sister once bought an inexpensive gown there marked down to half its price.

And so it goes. I've got of ten did I say? Dear me, I guess I made the proportion quite too small.

Why, as I think the matter over I begin to suspect that "all the world except me and thee" is guilty. Don't you?

THE CHILDREN'S FATHER.

A prominent woman was talking with motherly pride of the good qualities of her eldest daughter and with that soft light that comes into the eyes of a good mother and wife on occasions where her pride is touched she said: "You see, I gave her the right kind of a father."

This woman had, when she was very young, been married to a man much older than herself, but he was a man of many fine qualities and attainments; a man who always worked in the interests of those less able to bear the burdens of life than himself and his fellow men had honored him in many ways. However, he had died when his children were still very young. But the quality of the man is shown in the reverence in which the woman who had known him best of all the world held his memory.

But that is not the point. It is the woman's statement that she had given her daughter a good father. That is the greatest gift any woman can give, the child she brings into the world, and yet it is the last thought of the girl looking forward to marriage. Of course, every girl wants the man she marries to be all that he should be, but she doesn't exert herself over much to find out that he is.

In fact, too many women about to enter the married state permit their affection and their emotions to perform the functions of judgment and, unfortunately, for far too many of them, they have a day of awakening. Even the known vices, small though they may be, are likely to be overlooked, if they are not condoned, by the girl who is about to be married. She argues something like this: "If I can put up with them it is nobody's business." And so she marries with the partial hope in her breast that when she is his wife she can "reform" him. It is a pretty good gamble that if a man won't do a thing for love of a woman before he marries her, he won't after she is irrevocably his. And so we find women entering their hearts out through disappointment at their future.

If most girls would stop to think that marriage in most cases presupposes the advent of children in the home and the future and the welfare of those children in life largely depends upon the kind of "father" she gives them, she would not be so ready to make sacrifices for the man she thinks she loves.

A woman will suffer every kind of inconvenience, sacrifice and abuse at the hands of the man she marries, but the last straw is reached when his indignation extends to the children, or when his shortcomings bring deprivation and suffering to them. And a woman never hates a man quite so much as when she realizes that he has invaded her life by giving her children a bad father.

Some may think it indelicate for the girl about to wed to think out the problems of possible motherhood and all that, but it is the only rational thing for the prospective wife to do. If more girls did this there would be fewer unhappy homes, few broken hearts and less work for the divorce courts, because there would be greater circumspection on the part of men. Of course, the man of right type doesn't want to blight any life, and long before he thinks of marrying he is trying to curb whatever unsatisfactory tendencies he may have. Such a man deliberately sets out to find the kind of woman who will be the "right kind of a mother" for the children he expects to have. And so we are pretty likely to find an ideal home established when he does marry.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

GIVE BRAIN A CHANCE TO CONCENTRATE.

"I literally forget to eat when I am busy," says a well-known literary man. This is a common experience of successful men in all departments. A recent biographer of Thomas A. Edison says that the great inventor will sometimes forget whether he has had his dinner, when absorbed in some important problem. When the vitality is chiefly employed in mental work, it is unnatural to eat, and hence one advantage of having the principal meal in the evening and of omitting breakfast and doing the most taxing work in the forenoon. Concentration is the chief requirement for great intellectual work, which implies the largest appropriation of vitality for brain exercise at special periods, and the least draft upon vitality for digestion and elimination. Efficiency in general is largely a matter of nutrition. There is no doubt that in a case in which food is imperfectly masticated the drinking of a moderate amount of water, slowly, after eating, would facilitate digestion, but the bit and sup habit is obviously bad.

The Outdoor Nation.

No nation loves nature so much as the German. The Italian travels to get somewhere; the German to travel. The country walk for his own sake is a German discovery. The Englishman's ideal is a park, the German's a wood, and the Frenchman loves his boulevard.

The KITCHEN CABINET

ANY what you owe and you will know what you are worth, if everyone would mend one, all would be amended.

A Standard Bread.

As all over our country, in county and state fairs, and in contests of all kinds the women and girls are bringing the work of their hands in sewing and cookery to be judged, we need to have a larger vision and a better idea of standards. The vast majority of women cook as their mothers did before them and often this knowledge is very limited as the exhibits at the fairs will attest. Take bread for example. The most common article of food made in our homes; hardly two women will agree as to a good loaf, so our contests are doing great work in getting the women to see a loaf of bread which in the judgment of the judges approaches the ideal. It is most important that the judge should be a qualified one, as otherwise she may have a wrong standard.

One judges bread in much the same way that grains and corn or stocks are judged.

The shapely brown loaf, weighing a pound, has a dome-shaped, well-rounded top and a rich brown crust showing that it has been well baked.

The flavor should be good, the odor sweet and nutty, with never an odor of yeast and texture even. The pores in bread should never be larger than a grain of wheat.

Very little yeast should be used. The kind is immaterial as "starter," home-made yeast, dry or compressed, all make excellent bread when well mixed. This and the kneading is the secret of the good bread.

Bread should be kneaded until it feels springy and elastic under the hands; usually it takes about twenty minutes.

There is a right way to knead bread, and if it is not well kneaded the results will show it.

To knead bread use the palms of the hands without a great deal of force. After each pressure turn the dough with the left hand a quarter way round. In this way the yeast plant and gases given off are evenly distributed.

A loaf should raise until it is double its bulk, and a pound loaf should bake from forty-five to fifty-five minutes.

FINDS CURE FOR PELLAGRA

Consists of Transfusion of Blood of Healthy Individuals into Veins of Afflicted.

Chicago.—A cure for pellagra is asserted to have been discovered as the result of experiments conducted at the Cook County Infirmary at Danmang. It consists of the transfusion of the blood of healthy individuals into the veins of the afflicted. Out of 31 cases so treated Dr. C. O. Wilbitt asserted that nearly all have been cured.

"Pellagra is common in our institution," said Dr. Wilbitt. "The transfusion of healthy blood into the veins of the afflicted persons is about the only method I know of that will cure it, and certainly we have had great success. I don't think the Rockefeller Institute has anything on us in the treatment of these cases, and, as a matter of fact, I guess we have a little the best of them because pellagra is uncommon on the east, and they can't get as many patients in New York to work on as we have."

"We have been giving this treatment for about four months and have treated 31 cases. The best blood for transfusion comes from persons who have been cured of the disease, and it only takes one inoculation. Shortly after the treatment we notice that the skin of the patient clears up and he becomes more active in body and alert in mind."

CHINESE "SUGAR-CANE" DAY

Observed in Chicago Chinatown by Consumption of More Than Ton of Saccharine Article.

Chicago.—"Sugar-cane" day was observed in Chicago Chinatown the other day by the consumption of more than a ton of the saccharine article, which is the Chinese favorite confection.

When the first shipment of cane arrived from New Orleans every Chinaman in town came to Clark street to gorge himself on the sweet stalks. In some of the stores where cane was sold there were contests among the gourmands as to which could eat the most.

"Chinamen seldom eat candy," said Frank Woy, the mayor of Chinatown, "but I never knew one who wasn't crazy about sugar cane."

"Chinamen have a weakness for chocolate ice cream soda, perfumed soap, sugar cane and having their photographs taken. It is nothing unusual to see a Chinaman buy perfumed soap at 25 and 50 cents a cake. Some of them take a trunkful of it back to China when they go on a visit."

The Majority is Never Right?

The majority is never right. Never, I say. This is one of those society lies which a free, thinking man must rebel against. Who are they that make up the majority of a country's inhabitants? Are they the wise or the ignorant? I believe that we must agree that the ignorant are overwhelmingly in the majority everywhere on the whole earth. But it is never right that the ignorant should rule over the intelligent.—Henrik Ibsen.

Once in the Tropics.

Valuable scientific discoveries have recently been made in the Methow valley in Washington which tend to show that that section of the country was once in the tropical zone. Some big ledges of rock have been unearthed which, when broken apart, proved to be formed in layers, and between the layers were impressions of grasses and leaves such as are found only in the tropics.

"They say she got all kinds of money from her first husband." "No; only one kind of money." "What was that?" "Alimony."

Curtain of Wine Corks.

One of the most fashionable clubs in Berlin has in its supper room a curtain made of champagne corks. Four thousand corks with their silver or gilt covering have been threaded on thin rods decorated with colored ribbons and embellished with small copper balls. It gives a very decorative effect at a distance and has the appearance of a Japanese panel. Each cork is from a bottle of champagne costing about a shilling, so that the curtain represents an expenditure of something like £1,000.

Occupation for Turkish Women.

From the time of the first incursion of the Turks into Europe drawwork has been a favorite pursuit among Turkish women, especially in the harems. They are said to have learned it originally from Italian women who were made captive in the days when Ottoman galleys ravaged the Mediterranean.

Removes Dandruff

Puts Life into Faded Hair and Stops Scalp Itch.

If your hair is dull and lifeless, is falling out and getting thin on top, then you need Parlan Sage, and the quicker you get it, the sooner you will thank The Peoples' Drug Co. for selling you such a worthy dependable hair grower, dandruff cure and hair dressing.

Read what Mrs. M. A. May, of 107 East Elizabeth St., Detroit, Mich., writes on June 6, 1910:

"I have used many 'hair restorers' but have received no apparent benefit until I tried Parlan Sage. My hair is soft and silky, and while before I commenced using the remedy my hair was falling fast, now dry and harsh, faded, and altogether unlustrous, now just within the past few weeks several have remarked how lovely my hair was. It is also fine just for a dressing, leaving the hair soft and fluffy. It removes dandruff and cures itching of scalp. I certainly take pleasure in recommending Parlan Sage."

Parlan Sage is sold by The Peoples' Drug Co., and druggists everywhere. Get a 50 cent bottle today, use it for two weeks and if you are not satisfied that it will do all that it is advertised to do you can have your money back. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

IMPROVEMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

AND SANITARY CONDITIONS WAS DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF SOCIAL UNION LAST EVENING.

CONDITIONS IN JANESVILLE

And Means of Bettering the Health and Sanitation of the City Were Brought Out—Dr. C. A. Harper Spoke.

At the regular monthly meeting of Social Union club at the Y. M. C. A. last evening, following the singing of hymns, a program of the annual health survey of the city of Janesville was given. The speaker of the evening was Dr. C. A. Harper, who spoke on the subject of "Public Health." There was much of vital importance brought out in these speeches which were delivered, and among them it might be mentioned that at the start that it was shown that Janesville is not the most healthful city in the state and that there are many things which can and ought to be done to prevent the spread of disease.

Dr. J. V. Stevens in his talk on what can be done to conserve the public health of Janesville, emphasized the fact that there was a dearth of city ordinances on this question and that the city needed some good laws on its statute books covering matters of health and sanitation. Among the measures mentioned as being needed in Janesville and which would be found in the laws of other cities of the size of ours, were: an ordinance providing for a system of public inspection, to insure a pure and unadulterated article; a measure prohibiting the use of the outdoor closets and requiring the use of the city sewer system; laws requiring the cleaning of the streets and alleys, and the prompt removal of ashes and refuse of all descriptions; and finally we need a health officer who is paid something commensurate with the service he is expected to render, and not the paltry sum of $350 which he now receives.

On the topic of "Sanitary and Hygienic Construction of Public and Private Buildings," Dr. L. L. Hilton brought out some of the things which might be done in this city to improve the health condition from the standpoint of an architect. He vigorously attacked the outdoor closet which is a incubator of disease is universal and said that they should be strictly prohibited. The systems of plumbing found in the homes and buildings of the city are not what they are not strictly sanitary. "Property owners become careless in this matter," said Mr. Hilton, "because plumbing is among the last things to be done in the erecting of a house, and they begin to cut down the cost right where no expense should be spared to make the system of waste elimination perfect."

"Among other ordinances which the city needs," continued Mr. Hilton, "is one to regulate the building construction of the city, providing that the health officer or a special building inspector will look into the plans of every building erected and require that they be up to a certain standard as regards sanitation. One trouble at the present time is that the people do not understand what is meant by sanitation and the only way of insuring that is by the passage of laws which will be enforced."

Dr. C. A. Harper of Madison, secretary of the state board of health, gave the principal address of the evening on the question, "Cautioning underlying infectious and contagious diseases; their prevention and the relation of quarantine and efficient health officers to their elimination." Dr. Harper has been connected with the state health department for a number of years, and has a wealth of experience in the matter of disease and its prevention, which he drew for many striking illustrations.

"From the standpoint of public health," said Dr. Harper, "Janesville does not rank as high as she ought to. The average death rate for the state for the year 1910 was 12.1 per cent per thousand, and that of the city of Janesville was 14.5 per cent, nearly equaling that of the city of Chicago. This means that your city is losing forty-two citizens a year more than she ought to. The increase in diarrhoeal diseases here has been from one in 100 to ten in 1910, which is a rate much higher than it should be for this population."

"There are forty doctors in the city of Janesville who are called to care for the people who are stricken with disease of various kinds, and there is one man paid $350 a year whose duty it is to prevent these diseases. The trouble is we don't value our selves as being worth anything. One half of all the people who die between the ages of 18 and 50, die from a disease which is most easily prevented, tuberculosis. In the last four years there have been 800,000 young people die of this disease, and 2,500 are dying in the state of Wisconsin yearly."

"The indifference to tuberculosis is due to the fact that we are used to its presence. We have not taken the measures that they have in Germany. There it is stated that if it decreased at the present rate, there will be no tuberculosis in that country after thirty years."

"The spread of tuberculosis is by the germ which is very tenacious and one of the common ways in which the disease may be contracted is through the sputum. The American people are smokers and that this germ is not taken in the matter is the cause of the rapid spread of disease of all kinds. We carry the germs on our shoes, clothing, and into our homes where the germs live and thrive in the dark corners of our cloths."

"The common house fly is a terrible carrier of disease. On several specimens examined the number of germs found varied from 500,000 to 1,000,000. These pests are bred in places of filth and all possible care should be exercised to prevent the accumulation of any matter which will breed these menaces to the public health."

"Good ordinances regulating these matters is what this city needs. You ought to have a health officer who is adequately paid and an assistant should be provided him in order that the utmost efficiency may be attained."

A system of milk inspection is needed—the dairy farms should be inspected—also the butcher shops and grocery stores. The latter should be prohibited to have vegetables exposed on the street. The school children should be inspected and all cases of disease among them should be reported to the health officer.

"The health department should be organized independent of politics. Let the physicians of the city name the man and the council adopt their recommendation. With good health officers in the cities of this state, the doctors and citizens can accomplish wonderful results in the way of eliminating the now prevalent diseases."

PLAYLET GIVEN BY CHILDREN OF MARY

Members of Girls' Society of St. Patrick's Church Took Part in Entertainment Last Night.

Before an audience that filled Knights of Columbus hall to the doors, so that a number were forced to stand, the seventh annual entertainment under the auspices of the Children of Mary of St. Patrick's church was given last evening. A clever playlet, "The Six Kieptomaniacs," full of fun and humor, was presented, the members of the society taking the parts, and a short program of musical numbers closing with the singing of "America" by a chorus, was rendered.

The play was in two acts and was concerned with an attempt to cure a supposed kleptomaniac by the rule that like cures like. Scenic effects were simple but each role was well portrayed and the work of the young ladies won hearty applause. The cast of characters:

Mrs. Reynolds, an adviser for kleptomaniacs, Gertrude Albright.

Doc White, sympathetic friend, Florence Weber.

Chas. Reynolds, the real (C) kleptomaniac, Clara Garbutt.

Canada Smith, modiste and dressmaker, also maker of the costumes, cutter and buster, Martha Dooley.

Mrs. Thaddeus Lynch, who does finger nails and gives facial massage, Florence Britt.

Carry Brown, der flyin' angel, Marie Domahue.

Madame Juliette, who had hoped to be the widow of ten men, but is now of only one, Gertrude Chasney.

Bridgette de Flanagan, a kleptomaniac who can trace her descendants back as far as Iver they made them, Marie Nelson.

Crocus Washington Jones, a kleptomaniac recommended by President Taft, has seen Booker Washington pass by, Margaret Robbery.

Jumbo a maid who doesn't like spilling, Genevieve Drumm.

EVANSVILLE SEMINARY HELD THEIR ANNUAL DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Excellent Program Was Given at Tenth Annual Event of Evansville Institution.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, Feb. 28.—The tenth annual declamatory contest of the Evansville seminary was held at the First Baptist church last evening and attracted a large audience. The program consisted of eight declamations, piano solos by the Misses Neva Smith and Len Howard, and two selections by the M. M. club, a double quartet composed of musical students.

The entire program was given in a manner highly complimentary to the speakers and to Mrs. E. C. Richardson, who drilled the contestants. The judges were Rev. C. A. Coon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green, Prof. F. J. Lowth and Miss Lizzie Gilles. The first place was won by Miss Margaret Croft, whose subject was "The Little Colonel," second place by Thomas Johnson, subject, "Nicholas Nickleby Leaving the Yorkshire School," third place by Miss Mary Ladden, subject, "Pro Patria." The fourth honors went to Julian Dore Rowley, subject, "Felix's Last Day."

Birthday Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. John Winston entertained a number of relatives at supper last evening in honor of the seventeenth birthday of Mr. Winston's brother, Edwin Winston. He expects to leave soon for California for an indefinite stay.

Personal.

Dr. Claude Smith has been quite ill with the grippe for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Denison are moving today from the John Gilles farm on Jug Prairie to the farm which they bought in the town of Union.

Miss Dorelle Goodhue of Rockford is visiting in this city at the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. P. Cotton.

Mrs. H. A. Langman was given a pleasant surprise by a party of friends last evening it being her birthday anniversary. The so-called guests brought baskets from which an elaborate spread was served at six o'clock. The guests dined with each other in telling amusing stories, which with plenty of good music made the hours pass rapidly. There were about twenty present. All had a jolly time and Mrs. Langman has to admit that for once she was completely surprised.

John Wall has rented the farm on which Leonard Wall resides, to John Halverson, who takes possession March 1st.

Miss Olive Chapin is confined to her home by illness.

Lloyd Little of Madison was an over Sunday visitor in Evansville.

The W. P. M. S. of the Methodist church will hold their regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. Charles Coon.

Mrs. Vic Campbell goes to Chicago tomorrow morning and will remain until Saturday.

Mrs. Jay Murray of Brooklyn is ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ames Weaver.

TO HOLD ANNUAL HOME GATHERING

CARGILL MEMORIAL METHODIST CHURCH TO CELEBRATE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY FRIDAY EVENING.

RECEPTION AND PROGRAM

From Seven Until Eight O'clock Reception Will Be Held After Which

Elegant Program Will Be Given.

Friday evening at the Cargill Memorial church, will be held the fifth annual anniversary of the dedication of that church. Between the hours of seven and eight the home gathering of all the members and friends of the church will take place, which will be in the form of a reception and the occasion of a getting together of all those interested in the welfare of the same. After the home gathering, beginning at eight o'clock a very good program has been arranged for it. It will be as follows:

Prayer—Reverend J. Reynolds, Dist. Supt.

Ladies' Chorus—"Gently Evening Breeze"

Anniversary Address—Reverend J. O. Randall, D. D. of Chicago, Ill. Hymn 248.

Benediction by Pastor.

Dr. Randall, who will deliver the anniversary address, is now pastor of the Sheridan Road M. E. church in Chicago. Prior to the last general assembly he was associated with Dr. Henderson on the Commission of Aggressive Evangelism, devoting his life almost entirely to college work.

The membership records of the church for the year ending March 3, show that fifty-nine members were received by certificate and from probation. Removals by death and certificate from the church roll numbered fifty-six and baptismal ceremonies were performed for twenty-two. During the year, four societies, the Methodist Brotherhood, the Standard Bearers, the Little Light Bearers and the Knights of the Holy Grail, a boys' organization, have been organized or reorganized.

Through the generosity of a layman, a thoroughness was secured to assist the pastor in parish visiting and has provided a convenient and faithful church worker.

Special meetings will be held in the church commencing April 20, Miss D. Willis Caffrey of Madison, N. J., and a singer, Miss Pennell, having been secured for that purpose.

PRIVATE DANCING PARTY LAST NIGHT

Ladies of the Busy Day Club Hostesses At Delightful Affair Given in East Side Odd Fellows Hall.

Ten ladies, members of the Busy Day club of this city, entertained last evening at East Side Odd Fellows Hall at a private dancing party. The affair was one of the most delightful events of the pre-lenten season and was attended by about fifty couples. The decorations of the hall were among the pleasing features of the affair. Potted and cut plants were most tastefully arranged in cozy corners, giving the room a most handsome appearance. A dance program of the latest musical numbers was rendered, the dancing lasting from nine o'clock until twelve. Sherbet and wafers were served during the course of the evening. The hostesses at the party were the Mesdames Fred and Roy Palmer, Eugene Craft, George Olin, Arthur Jones, Fred Grubbs, George Homagey, Carl Litta, James Bottsford, and Glen Snyder.

The moment a man starts in talking about "dedicating" his services to the honor and welfare of his country hold tight onto your pocketbook—real patriots never do any that!

ANNUAL PLAY OF MONROE SOCIETY WAS A SUCCESS

St. Victor's Society Presented Fine Production to a Crowded House

Other Monroe News.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, March 1.—As a result of their annual play, St. Victor's society will realize $175 for the society's funds. The play, as usual, attracted a capacity house, there being barely standing room left.

"What Happened to Jones" was the attraction staged under the direction of Miss Anna L. Etter. The parts were all carried through in creditable form, Arthur Chelentine, Paul Hodges, and Mrs. Grace Hurrell-Hodges taking the leading parts. Mrs. N. B. Weger's Badger orchestra furnished the music preceding and during the intermission of the play.

E. L. Neal.

A message received by relatives here late yesterday afternoon brought the news of the death of E. L. Neal, many years ago a resident of Iowa. He left Green county in 1867, going by wagon to Charlesville, Iowa. He leaves beside his wife, three sons and two daughters. He is a brother-in-law of Mrs. J. A. Clemmer and E. C. Whitcomb of this city. The funeral services will be held from the home Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

High School Debate.

The Forum took the third debate out of three in the interschool contest between that team of debaters and the Staff of the Boy's Debating club of the local high school. This means the Staff will have to banquet the winning team. Last year the Staff won the contest and this year the Forum went to work with a will, intent on being the winning team.

Personal.

Mrs. Belle Gavel of Dubuque, Mrs. Allen Van Wagenen of Madison, and Louis Barling of Milwaukee, were here for the funeral of Mrs. Garret Van Wagenen. Mrs. Gavel is a cousin and Mr. Barling a brother of the deceased.

Mrs. Thomas J. Bast, who was called here by the death of her father, J. F. Grinnell, returned home to Green Bay, taking her mother with her for a few weeks' visit.

Mrs. Robert Kohl has returned from Janesville where she assisted her son, E. J. Kohl, and family, get settled in their new home.

MASK BALL WAS AN ENJOYABLE EVENT

A Large Attendance Was Out To Social Event At City of Edgerton.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, Feb. 28.—One of the most enjoyable social events ever held in Edgerton was a mask ball held Monday evening in Academy hall. Being the first of the kind of the season, the event proved a great drawing card, not only from the city and vicinity, but from neighboring towns as well. While the number in mask was perhaps not so large as in former times, yet the costumes displayed were exceedingly pretty and appropriate and all prize winners were paid in cash. Stricker's orchestra of seven pieces furnished the inspiration. H. C. Schmelling was at the head of the affair and great credit is due him for the way and manner he conducted the same.

Surprise Party.

Monday evening a surprise party took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Ogden, Miss Pierce of Danbury, Iowa, being the guest of honor. The guests, all young ladies and eighteen in number, were arrayed in all sorts of costumes and gowns and girls were present who were not boys at all. The affair created great merriment to all participants and was greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Personal.

Henry Wesendorp was off to Beloit Monday in the interest of the Edgerton Club Company.

Pat Quakey, Jr., returned yesterday from Rockford, where he was over Sunday with friends.

Philip Olin returned Monday from Milwaukee, where he was called a week ago on account of the death of an aunt.

J. A. Thompson and John Quigley of this city have purchased a heavy and boarding stable at Lake Mills. Mr. Quigley departed for that place Saturday to assume charge and will remain there permanently.

Sidney Evans and Harry Larson of Stoughton, were in town Tuesday evening attending the mask ball.

At the Carlton.

Guests registered at the Carlton hotel are: W. B. Sullivan, F. C. Lindstrom, Will H. Lake, Janesville; Geo. Gahagan, Bill Skon, S. M. Holverson, Stoughton; S. E. Hill, Beloit; C. H. Dummerbush, Philadelphia, Pa.; C. K. Mack, H. D. Kimball, W. P. Fuller, P. J. Colman, L. W. Sudler, H. S. McGiffin, Madison; Theo. M. Giesner, E. J. Kolar, T. B. Hollenbeck, H. O. Pech, S. P. Trudell, J. Montgomery, Milwaukee; D. Purnell, A. N. Borden, M. M. Meyer, Chas. Rubenstein, A. Smith, R. H. Townsend, Henry Colm, Chicago.

Working men can save and give new wiring power to your home, take a G. C. Family Plan for a week every evening. It will make you feel like childhood's days. 25 cents a package.

Some Questions.

How far is a far cry? Is it wrong to steal a march? Can you burn an air of unconcern? Does it hurt to be struck by an idea? Did you ever see the shadow of a doubt? Can the voice of conscience be cultivated? What artist painted the picture of health? When the welder rings who answers the ring? What florist raises the pink of propriety? When Fortune smiles does she show her front teeth?—Boston Transcript.

CHAPTER VII.

A BATTLE OF LOUHANSE.

BLOUNT had been waiting between two ophiolites. The fighting blood in him prompted him to stay and set up the standard of honesty and fair dealing in the Mount state, to gather a few men of like convictions around him and to enter the political conflict at the head of a movement designed at once and forever to abolish machine dictatorship in his native state.

But, on the other hand, the claims of blood could not be altogether ignored. The campaign for political cleanliness would inevitably involve his father-in-law, if successful, defeat and disgrace him. Clearly it was the part of filial duty to hesitate before he should set his hand to this particular plow of reform. Would it not be better for him to drop out quietly, leaving the political housecleaning for some one who would not have to pay such a costly price for the leadership?

Thus the two promptings clamored each for its hearing. But, after all, it was chance and the swift current of the occasion that decided for him and swept him along into the vortex of action.

Before he had gone ten steps toward Gentry's office some one in the throng of debarking overland passengers called his name. When he turned he was facing a white-haired old gentleman with a scholarly face and an irascible twist to his thin lips, a man and a straight figured maiden with level eyes and a face in which the inherited traits were softened into lines of thoughtful firmness and serenity.

"Why, bless my soul, of all the lucky things!" ejaculated the young man, who but an instant before had been halting between two opinions. "You don't mean to tell me that this is the son of old Mr. Blount?"

"Why, bless my soul, of all the lucky things!" ejaculated the young man, who but an instant before had been halting between two opinions. "You don't mean to tell me that this is the son of old Mr. Blount?"

"Well, senator," he said, with a certain dogged emphasis, "I'm here. Let's find a place where we can talk it out. And together they entered an elevator, which, as chance would have it, passed, in ascending, the car in which the younger Blount was coming down.

It was to the senator's suit that the two opposing bold commanders made their way when their car reached the fourth floor. In the senator's sitting room McVieker dragged a chair over to one of the windows which commanded a view of the Lost River mountains and dropped into it heavily.

"I suppose we may cut out the preliminaries and come to the point at once," he began. "As before, I want to say that you had definitely announced your son as a candidate for the attorney generalship. Have you?"

"The senator was opening a box of cigars, and his reply savored of good natured irony.

"The primaries do the nominating in this state, Hardwick. Didn't you know that?" he asked mildly.

"See here, Blount, I've come 3000 miles to thrash this thing out with you, and I'm not in the humor to spar for an opening. Do you mean to run your son or not? That is a plain question, and I'd like a plain answer."

"I told you two weeks ago what I meant to do, McVieker, but you wouldn't believe me. I'll say it again if you want to hear it."

"And I told you two weeks ago that we couldn't stand for it; that you might name your own price for an alternative."

"Yes, and I told you my price, if you happen to remember."

"I know. You said you wanted us to turn everything over to the reformers and take our chances on a clean administration. Naturally we are not going to do any such utopian thing. What I want to know now is what it is going to cost us to get your consent to do the practical and possible thing."

"Want to buy me outright this time, do you?" said the boss, still smiling gently.

"We"—McVieker was going to say, "we bought you before," but he changed it to a less offensive form—"We have had no difficulty in arriving at some sensible and practical conclusions in the past, Blount, and we shouldn't have now. We can't let your son run for attorney general. That's out of the question. If you put your son in as public prosecutor you can have him but one object in view—you mean to squeeze us till the blood runs. We're willing to discount that object before the fact."

"So you have said before a number of times and in a number of different ways," was the mild counter suggestion.

would say that you might turn him if you went at it right. But you won't go at it right, and no matter stand now—well, blood is thicker than water, and if you hit me you hit him. And I reckon between us we'll manage to give you as good as you send. That's all," rising to lean heavily upon the table, "all but one thing. You fight fair, Hardwick. Say anything."

WILL JONES

"YOU'D SET THE HOUSE AFIRE OVER MY HEAD, WOULD YOU, HARDWICK?"

He looked about him, but if that boy has anything in his past that I don't know about, that he wouldn't want to see published, you let it alone and keep your newspaper reporters off it."

The vice president laughed. He was of those who regard equality in exact proportion as an opponent loses it.

"You needn't let the boy's record trouble you," he averred. "It's as clean as a hound's tooth. That is one of the things I'm banking on, David. I'm going to have that young fellow fighting on our side before we're through."

At this the gray eyes under the penthouse brows flared fiercely, and the senator took the two strikes needful to place him before the man in the chair.

"Don't you do that, McVieker. I give you fair warning," he said, his deep-toned voice rumbling like the bar of grinding wheels. "There's only one way you could do it."

The vice president stood up and put on his hat. "And you'll take precious good care that I don't get a chance to try that way, you were going to say. All right, David. You tell me to do my worst, and I'll hand that back to you too. You do the same, and we'll see who comes out ahead."

It was some five minutes later when the vice president had made his leisurely way down to the lobby. The electric lights blazed out, and the great gathering place was beginning to take on its evening air of stir and activity.

Mr. McVieker pushed his way to the desk, and a row of lately arrived guests waited when he asked his question.

"Where will I be most likely to find Mr. Evan Blount at this time of day?" was the question he wished to have answered, and the obliging clerk made the line wait still longer while he summoned a bellboy and sent him scurrying across to one of the writing tables.

"This is Mr. Evan Blount," he said to the railroad magnate, indicating the young man who came up with the bellboy. "Mr. Blount, this is Mr. Hardwick McVieker, first vice president of the Transcontinental Railway company."

There was no trace of the recent battle in Mr. McVieker's voice or manner when he turned and shook hands cordially with the son of the man who had defied him.

"Your father and I were just holding a little conference over your future prospects, Mr. Blount," he said, going straight to his point. "Suppose you come down to the car with me for a little private talk on the legal situation. I'm not sure but we shall wish to retain you in a cause that is coming up in September. Gentry tells me that you are pretty well up in corporation law. Can you spare me a half hour or so?"

Evan Blount glanced at his watch. Patricia had told him that she and her father would dine in the cafe at 7 and that there would be room at their table for him and for his father. If the ex-senator would so far honor a poor college professor. There was an hour to spare, and if the vice president of the Transcontinental company were not the king he was at least a great man whose invitation was in some sense a command.

It was at the precise moment when the butterfly doors of the lobby entrance were swinging to their closing behind Mr. McVieker and his quarry that the house telephone called the registry clerk. A sad faced tourist who was waiting, pen in hand, for his room assignment heard only the answer to the question which came over the wires from one of the upper floors.

"No, senator," the clerk was saying: "the last night's moment gone out—take Mr. McVieker! Could I overtake him? I'll try. But I don't know where they were going. I'll send a boy right away, though."

"Black Lightning."

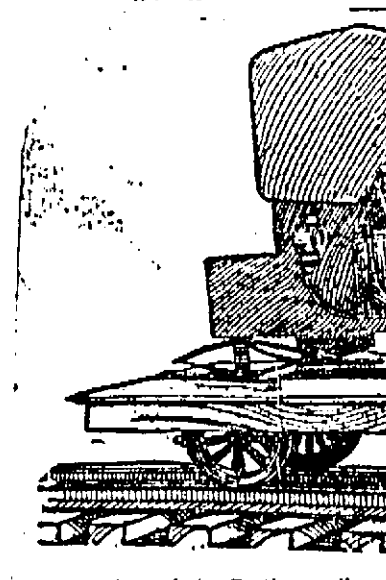

In photographs of lightning, streaks of "black lightning" are often seen branching out from the main white flash, and people have long wondered what these were. It is now found, says the Scientific American, that they are due to the over-exposure of the photographic plate and the "reversal" of the negative into a positive.

STATE TO INSURE ALL MEN

England's Contributory Scheme to Counteract Lack of Employment—Outline of Plan.

London.—As the British government has already announced that it has in hand a national scheme of insurance against unemployment it may be taken for granted that Sir Hubert Llewellyn Smith, who is chief of the permanent staff of the board of trade, indicated semi-officially the lines on which that scheme is based in the address which he delivered recently as president of the economic science section of the British association.

"First," he said, "the scheme must be compulsory, otherwise the bad personal risks against which we must always be on our guard would be certain to predominate; second, the scheme must be contributory, for only by exacting rigorously as a necessary qualification for benefit that a sufficient number of weeks' contribution shall have been paid by each recipient can we possibly hope to put limits on the exceptionally bad risks."

"Our analysis leads us step by step to the contemplation of a national contributory scheme of insurance, within the limits of a large group of trades—a group so far as possible self-contained and carefully selected as favorable to the experiment, the funds being derived from compulsory contributions from all those engaged in these trades, with a subsidy and guarantee from the state. The rules relating to benefit should be so devised as to discriminate effectively against unemployment which is mainly due to personal causes, while giving a substantial allowance to those whose unemployment results from industrial causes beyond the control of the individual."

Such a scheme Sir Hubert regards as actually possible, at least for such a group of trades as building, engineering and shipbuilding.

Test of Civilization.

One can measure the degree of civilization in a given place by the quantity of water used by the population, by their need of cleanliness and the sacrifices they are prepared to make to insure the benefits of pure water to the poorest citizen.—New Presse, Vienna.

PIMPLES CURED in Ten Days, or your money back

Any one who has pimples, boils, black heads, liver spots, open sores and eruptions should know it is because of bad blood. The circulation has become contaminated with matter that has discolored the blood, which is being forced out of the system through the pores of the skin. This condition cannot be cured unless you remove the cause. Bin-Tor Complexion Tablets purify the blood, strengthen the system and make your skin healthy, thus restoring your complexion to its clear, youthful appearance. If Bin-Tor don't cure you we will return your money.

Under the purifying and tonic effect of Bin-Tor Complexion Tablets the system will be built up and your skin cleared, usually in about ten days. Sold and recommended by Baker & Son, Druggists. Send 25c to Bin-Tor Laboratory, 155 E. Washington St., Chicago, for large sample.

AIDS IN RAILROAD INSPECTION

This unique, but effective, railway inspection car is formed by removing the propulsion mechanism from an ordinary hand car and the wheels from an automobile and combining the remaining parts of the two into one perfect machine.

The automobile engine is geared to the rear truck of the hand car by means of a chain drive.

STATE TO INSURE ALL MEN

England's Contributory Scheme to Counteract Lack of Employment—Outline of Plan.

London.—As the British government has already announced that it has in hand a national scheme of insurance against unemployment it may be taken for granted that Sir Hubert Llewellyn Smith, who is chief of the permanent staff of the board of trade, indicated semi-officially the lines on which that scheme is based in the address which he delivered recently as president of the economic science section of the British association.

"First," he said, "the scheme must be compulsory, otherwise the bad personal risks against which we must always be on our guard would be certain to predominate; second, the scheme must be contributory, for only by exacting rigorously as a necessary qualification for benefit that a sufficient number of weeks' contribution shall have been paid by each recipient can we possibly hope to put limits on the exceptionally bad risks."

"Our analysis leads us step by step to the contemplation of a national contributory scheme of insurance, within the limits of a large group of trades—a group so far as possible self-contained and carefully selected as favorable to the experiment, the funds being derived from compulsory contributions from all those engaged in these trades, with a subsidy and guarantee from the state. The rules relating to benefit should be so devised as to discriminate effectively against unemployment which is mainly due to personal causes, while giving a substantial allowance to those whose unemployment results from industrial causes beyond the control of the individual."

Such a scheme Sir Hubert regards as actually possible, at least for such a group of trades as building, engineering and shipbuilding.

Test of Civilization.

One can measure the degree of civilization in a given place by the quantity of water used by the population, by their need of cleanliness and the sacrifices they are prepared to make to insure the benefits of pure water to the poorest citizen.—New Presse, Vienna.

Demand for Steel in China.

On account of the ravages of the white ant, which destroys the woodwork in buildings at Hong Kong, the use of steel beams is now almost universal in buildings erected there by foreigners, while the Chinese also use them to a considerable extent.
